Dear Amazing Discoveries Supporter,

We recently learned that a number of you have been contacted by an organization called "Quo Vadis Ministries". We understand there may be some confusion about Quo Vadis and its relationship with Amazing Discoveries.

We would like to take this opportunity to answer some questions you may have regarding this matter.

Quo Vadis is an entirely separate entity and has no affiliation with Amazing Discoveries in any way. While the style, teachings and speakers at Quo Vadis may appear similar to ours, we do not partner with or assist that entity in any endeavors. Amazing Discoveries continues, as it always has, to be an independent ministry committed to exposing deceptions and errors in the religious realm, media, history, and science. Amazing Discoveries has not changed its approach to the message in any way. We are still committed to preaching prophecy in the context of the three angels' messages and thus we share the love of God to a dying planet. We believe this focus on the three angels' messages differentiates us from Quo Vadis.

Approximately two years ago, two employees left AD and then formed Quo Vadis. A few of our speakers have chosen to affiliate themselves with this new organization.

Upon recently learning that persons at Quo Vadis have been contacting our donors, we promptly began to look into the situation. As you know, AD is committed to the privacy and security of your personal information, including your contact information, and we do not share it with other ministries or with former employees.

As part of its investigation, AD is determining whether these former high-ranking employees retained donor information (name, address, email address, phone number, and similar information) and are now using it at Quo Vadis. The investigation is ongoing but to date we see no evidence that any sensitive personal information such as credit card numbers or bank account information was retained by these former employees. We are taking steps to confirm this and, if applicable, to recover any donor information. Further, we see no evidence that our systems have been hacked.

We encourage anyone who has questions about this situation to contact us at 1-866-572-9457 or by email at client-care@amazingdiscoveries.org. When we conclude our investigation of this matter, we will reach out to you with more information. If you have had unsolicited contact by Quo Vadis Ministries, we would appreciate hearing from you. You may let us know at the contact info above.

Our supporters are an important part of AD's mission, and as a result, we are committed to the ongoing security of your information. We thank you for your continuing support of this ministry, and in your commitment to the preaching of the three angels' messages. This remains our foremost goal, and we are so thankful to you, our supporters and friends, that have partnered with us in this endeavor. Amazing Discoveries is laying plans to expand our reach in new areas of the world, as well as through more media and evangelistic efforts. As plans for these new projects develop, we will be sharing these with you to solicit your prayers on our behalf.

May we be found faithful,

Wendy Goubey
